Long Beach, California ~ 16 September 2015

Blueoceana Company has learned from sources at Long Beach, that during the morning hours of today's date an over the road intermodal truck operator was struck and killed by his own tractor at Berth 60 in this city.

Given the immediacy of this notice, no media reports are currently available.

Information coming to us, however, indicates that while dropping off an empty chassis the truckman left his tractor in gear while disengaging the unit's kingpin.

Once the kingpin was freed, the tractor moved forward and crushed the driver under its rear tandem wheels.
