Otago Daily Times

Monday, 27 February 2017

Man who died in Bluff port accident named

Colin Ross Hansen died after a workplace incident at South Port in Bluff. Photo: File

Police have revealed the name of the man who died in a workplace accident at Bluff on Friday.

Colin Ross Hansen (54), of Invercargill, reportedly died after he was run over by a loader at South Port.

Emergency services attended the incident at about 1.45am on Friday February 24. Worksafe NZ are investigating and the death has been referred to the coroner.