

A Binh Duong port employee died while on duty

Nguyen Thao January 13, 2024 12:53

(NLDO) - Boarding the ship to check containers at Binh Duong port, Mr. T. unfortunately slipped and fell into Dong Nai river.

At noon on January 13, the police of Di An city, Binh Duong province were investigating the reason why a male employee of Binh Duong port fell from a ship into the river and died.

Accordingly, at about 6 o'clock on the same day, Mr. V.Đ.T (38 years old, from Nghe An), an employee of Binh Duong port right at Dong Nai bridge (in Binh Thang ward, Di An city) boarded the ship for container inspection.

Authorities Organized a Search for the Victim

After checking, Mr. T. walked on the ship to the port side. While climbing on a ladder, he unfortunately slipped and fell into the Dong Nai river.

A boat operator and crew quickly rushed over, but the victim had already sunk to the bottom of the river, missing.

Upon receiving the news, the rescue force of Di An City Fire Police deployed frogmen to search and found the victim's body 15 minutes later.

Di An City Police are investigating the cause of the incident. At noon of the same day, the victim's body was transferred to the morgue for an autopsy.